AMY NELSON OF GLAZER DELMAR ACCEPTED AS A MEMBER OF SOLICITORS FOR THE ELDERLY

24th September 2014

London - Amy Nelson, Head of the Wills & Probate Department at London-based solicitors, Glazer Delmar has been accepted as a member of the national association 'Solicitors for the Elderly' (SFE).

SFE is an association of lawyers who specialise in legal services for older people and their carers. Members of SFE have a wealth of experience within this key legal area and they are required to have spent a substantial amount of time working for elderly clients. The aim of this national association is to improve the knowledge and service provided on legal issues including, tax planning, wills, enduring powers of attorney, long-term social and health care and other retirement issues.

Glazer Delmar, the East Dulwich based solicitors, provides a variety of specialist legal services. The firm has a team of lawyers who specialise in legal issues for the elderly. Amy Nelson's membership of SFE will provide clients with the assurance that Glazer Delmar has wide ranging expertise in providing legal services for older people.
